

HANDS-ON APPROACH

In the hands of the experts you can have your dream lifestyle landscape

A new garden is a significant investment. Just like all worthwhile things it requires time, effort and money. To achieve the result you want — which may be a better lifestyle or a boost in the resale value of your property — you need to draw on the expertise of an experienced landscaper. Better yet, you need to leave it all to them, from the design phrase right through to construction.

An experienced, accredited landscaper will have the knowledge and skills required to come up with space-saving suggestions, recommend the most appropriate plants and advise you on the best materials to use — all of which can lead to long-term savings.

Aesthetic Landscapes, a successful Brisbane-based partnership between Brendan Dun and Peter Sands, specialises in high-end residential landscape projects. Says Brendan: "There is virtually nothing we can't do when it comes to landscaping. Also, we are well-tuned to the local climate and the adverse weather conditions that our clients face, so we are able to help them create gardens that will establish easily and flourish for generations to come."

"Our main focus is creating outdoor areas that get you out of the house and into your own garden sanctuaries. We put special emphasis on lifestyle, not a lifetime of maintenance," adds Peter.

Aesthetic Landscapes has been in business for more than nine years, offering the full range of services, from initial site consultation and design to construction and final handover. During that time it has cultivated a well-earned reputation for professionalism and reliability. Says Brendan: "We are proud to say that most of our business is through word of mouth from many of our happy clients."

"Our knowledge and the guidance we provide in helping clients choose the right design and products for their homes are what set us apart," says Peter. "Clients can rest assured that we are fully licensed and that we have extensive experience in areas such as paving, block work, plant selection and concreting."

"We also pride ourselves on our attention to detail, our hands-on approach and our commitment to always keeping our clients up to date and remaining in close communication throughout the entire project."

"Wherever possible, we like to combine three core elements — design, construction and maintenance — in the projects we undertake," says Brendan. "When clients enlist our services they know the design will be functional, the garden will be constructed to a high level of workmanship and, if they wish, they can engage us to maintain their property and keep it looking its very best."

Aesthetic Landscapes is a member of Landscape Queensland Industries Inc and services the Brisbane area as well as the Gold/Tweed Coast. ■
